NOTICES OF RECENT BOOKS.

I have already conducted the reader through half the first volume of "Mythologie des Plantes," by Mons. Angelo de Gubernatis. Let us now try and finish our task. One blemish, already referred to, meets us again. Speaking under the heading of FLEURS the author remarks graphic Chinoice," p. 607), on voit la lune repré-"La fleur n'a pas été soulement admirée à cause de sa beauté, qui en fait la gemme du monde the Hon. The subject so extensive as the study of this question Helston Furry dance, still observed on the 8th opens up. May, is a remnant, doubtless, of the ancient Floralia. These subjects I have treated at length in the chapter on "Flowers and the Seasons" in my forthcoming work on "Flower Lore." speaking of flowers of a fanereal nature, and such as are employed in making funeral wreaths or planting on graves, I find it frequently stated. but without the authority of any recognized writer, that roses are often planted on the graves of the Chinese. To dery any statement made about a people so numerous, and with customs so varied would be to show great rashness, but I should be glad to hear whether the custom is part I do not remember ever to have seen anything planted on Chinese graves in and around that " Confucius nous dit que, dans les temps antérieu s à Fou-hi on mettait les morts sous des beaux, sans planter d'arbres et sans determiner le temps du deail." Thus the Chinese are not so peculiar in their customs as we have been apt to suppose. There are many other subjects I should like to have dwelt upon more fully. I must only refer to one or two in conclusion. On p. 289, we are told that Opium is called in Sanskrit " ahiphena, au écame de serpent"; a question we may discuss another time. The notes on Paradise, also (p. 261), will repay study when we come to treat of the subject in some future notes on Plant Lore. I notice but one other reference to Chinese matters. When it is desired to forward letters to the United States by a sailing ship which is not no. tified as carrying a mail, it is only necessary to post the letters in the ordinary way, marked with the name of the ship, and prepaid 10 pents per half ounce as usual. The Post Office then undertakes the duty of obtaining notice of de. parture and despatching the correspondence. It is requested that the letters be posted if possible at least one day before the date fixed for sailing

LUCAL AND INDIAN PARCEL POST. 1.—Small Parcelsmay be sent by Post at Book Rates between Hongkong and any of the British Post Offices in China, as well as to Japan, Macao, Pakhoi, the Straits Settlements, and India, They must not exceed the following dimensions, 2 feet long, I foot broad, I foot deep, weigh more than 51hs., nor be smaller than 3 in, by 2 in. by 2 in. Such parcels may be wholly closed if they bear this special endorsement. Parcel, containing no letter, but any parcel may be opened by direction of the Postmaster General. In the Case of Parcels for India a declaration of contents and value is required, a printed form for which is supplied gratis. The Registration of Parcels for India is compulsory.

THA MUSTERS. Persons who send Musters of Tea through the Post in Tins are requested to have them made flat or square instead of round, as it is impossible to pack round time securely in the mail bags. It is believed that the tea will travel more safely in flat time, which are not so liable. as round ones to be bulged in. 4 by 8 by 11 inches is suggested as a good sise. The time should not have sharp corners.

EXTRACTS. CONTENTMENT.

O, say not man's faith is a flower That lives but a day, and is past; A star which gives light but an hour, A sky that is soon overcast: There may be such men, it is true, 'And ladies may be much the same;

But those are not like me and you; O, no; our love's more than a mane, My cottage, though small, is my own, Tis shaded by woodbine and tree;

I wish for thy sake 'tween a throne, O, proudly I'd share it with thes. 'Tis humble yet not very poor, And would'st then but yield thy consent, Thou would st feel, if thou lov'et me, I'm sure, The gold of the earth is content.

GOOD STORY OF PRINCE LEOPOLE The London correspondent of the Western Daily Press says :- A good story is being whispered in the saloons of society. The Duke of Albany and the Princess Helene paid a visit to a celebrated London photographer, to whom they gave two sittings. The first was de riqueur. The photographs taken during the second sitting were, however, intended for family circulation only. arm around the waist of his betrothed, Rates. her head resting upon his shoulder. Unfortunately the Royal commands either misunderstood or forgotton, and the photographs intended for family circulation and the Court of Waldeck were issued to the trade along with those intended for her Majesty's lieges. The error was discovered, however, and the partraits depicting the human love of Prince Leopold and Princess Helene have been called in. Only very few have got into circulation.

A STORY OF BARTOLOZZI. There is a story told of him and Lord Craven which is worth repetition. He was engaged by Lord Craven, who was a brute | Contributors of Business, whether they are and the husband of the beautiful and clever Lady Elizabeth Berkeley, who afterward became Margravine of Anspach, to make an engraving from an East Indian design, for which his lordship agreed to give him two hundred pounds. Bartolozzi thought it a hard bargain, but as Lord Craven was by way of being a noble patron of art, and "his very good friend," undertook the work. Everything was arranged; the engraver was to work in the house, and dine at my lord'e table. My lord speedily displayed his bad manners and that brutality which made him the scoff of his peers until he departed this life to the great comfort of everybody be-bottle had passed, he showed the engraver. On Petroleum in liinto the working room, and there left him. Bartolozzi's idea, was that this was only a On_First-class Chinose visit of ceremony to surgey the field, and then return to his "bottle and friend," but feeling an after dinnerish sensation come over him, he untied his neckeleth, spread it over his face, threw bimself into the armchair and went to sleep. Some two hours afterward Lord Craven, anxious already to see the progress of the engraver, went himself to call Bartolozzi to tako coffee. Enter- FITHE undersigned, Agents of the above Coming the room, he was surprised to find the engraver fast asleep, and snoring like the bass of his brother the musician's fiddle. His lordship looked round and found that all was in statu quo. The engraver had not GUARDIAN FIRE AND LIFE struck a stroke, upon which he shook him - by the collar until he awoke him. The ongraver was in a very iil humor, and asked

"Why wake me when I was dream for your lordship's good?" "My good!" bellowed Lord Craven; "why, Bartolozzi, why, man, you have not Bartolozzi rose up and replied :.. "Oh, yes, my lort, all my engraving are there, laying upon de plate, and dere dev may lav and be-
